This survey will provide insight to the services provided by the City of Harrisonburg.

“We want to know our residents’ opinions on what we are doing well and areas that may need improvement or redirection,” said Mary-Hope Vass, Public Information Officer.

The first phase of this survey included a survey that was sent to 1,200 randomly selected households in the city, which was a scientific sample. Surveys were distributed in mid-January and the deadline for collection was March 7. These results are still being analyzed and will be presented to City Council later this spring.

Once the analysis and report is complete for both surveys, all results will be posted to www.HarrisonburgVA.gov/Community-Survey.
