Construction Update for New City Hall Project

Harrisonburg, VA – The City of Harrisonburg continues moving forward with the construction of the new City Hall.

Next week, the construction site will change significantly when a portion of the Community Development building is removed.

The portion being removed was used primarily as a classroom space and has already been separated from the rest of the building.

Depending on the progress of the site work Thursday and Monday, it is anticipated that the demolition will take place on Tuesday, July 8 starting at 5:00 a.m.

Additional information will be posted to the webpage dedicated to the progress of this project along with the city's social media sites.

The city, in partnership with Nielsen Builders, broke ground on the new City Hall in June. This project is expected to be complete by the fall of 2015.

Information about this project is always available at www.HarrisonburgVA.gov/new-City-Hall. Members of the community are also invited to email MaryHope.Vass@HarrisonburgVA.gov for those interested in receiving regular updates on this project by email.
