Crews Repairing Water Main Break

Harrisonburg, Va. – The Public Utilities Department has responded to and is working to repair a water main break this morning.

City crews are at the intersection of Neyland Drive and Chestnut Drive to repair a water main break. Before completing the repair, all utilities must be identified and marked, which is currently in the process of taking place.

Residents in this area may experience an interruption in water service during the repair. Once the repair has been completed, customers may temporarily see discolored water, which is common after work takes place.

Motorists are encouraged to use caution in this area and slow down when passing the crews working alongside the road.

Anyone with questions may contact the Public Utilities Department at 540-434-9959. Be sure to follow the city’s Facebook and Twitter sites for updates to this project.

*The Harrisonburg Department of Public Utilities is responsible for providing water and sewer services to residences and businesses.
