Media Release HRECC Launches New Website April 6, 2017

Harrisonburg, VA – The Harrisonburg-Rockingham Emergency Communications Center (HRECC) is pleased to announce the launch of its new website. This website, with a more vibrant and interactive design, can be accessed by visiting www.hrecc.org.

For the HRECC, its website and social media presence are the number one tools that promote, educate and inform the citizens of Harrisonburg and Rockingham County.

“Our goal is to draw the public to this site and to utilize it as a resource for educational and informative purposes,” said Jim Junkins, director of the HRECC. “This website seeks to provide vital information about the ECC and includes information regarding the services provided, up to date news, citizen services, career opportunities, and more.”

The HRECC partnered with the Huffmyer Agency for website development and they were able to capture the vision of the ECC in an interactive and modern way. This is the second partnership between the HRECC and the Huffmyer Agency, with the first taking place in 2016 when the ECC contracted with this firm for its first recruitment and public education video.

The Harrisonburg-Rockingham Emergency Communications Center seeks to assist and educate the public in all areas related to emergency communication including services such as party registration, after-hours business information, farmland and livestock registration and more.

“The website offers several ways to contact the ECC regarding requests and updates and serves as another avenue to enhance our partnership with the community,” added Dee Dee Sencindiver, operations manager.

Please contact Dee Dee Sencindiver at 540-432-6150 or ddsencindiver@hrecc.org to obtain further information.
