City Partners to Host Citywide Restaurant Week

Harrisonburg, Va. – Harrisonburg Tourism and Visitor Services will partner with Harrisonburg Downtown Renaissance (HDR) and local restaurants to host a citywide restaurant week next month.

March 5-11 is set as Harrisonburg Restaurant Week, where restaurants will come together to showcase their talent and creativity by serving up fresh, innovative menus. Participating restaurants will offer a variety of dishes sourced from local farms and made from international family recipes right here in the Shenandoah Valley.

This year, Harrisonburg Restaurant Week will offer culinary workshops, chef demonstrations, and one of a kind restaurant collaborations.

“This will be another opportunity for our local partners to work together and support our restaurant and hospitality industry, explained Brenda Black, Tourism and Visitor Services manager.

“We’re excited to have more than 30 restaurants and breweries representing the downtown culinary district during this week-long celebration,” says Kim Kirk, HDR’s Chief Marketing Officer. “It’s the perfect time for locals and visitors to try a new restaurant or visit a favorite that may be showcasing new menu items and collaborations for a limited time.”
