City Works to Clear Streets of Snow

Harrisonburg, Va. – The city of Harrisonburg’s Public Works Department continues working to keep the city streets clear of snow.

All city streets are considered to be in moderate condition, which means there is snow or ice on the pavement, major portions of the pavement are covered with snow, and there is heavy slush.

Motorists are encouraged to avoid travel. If travel is necessary, it is important to drive slow, increase following distance and be aware of potentially icy areas such as shady spots and bridges.

City crews started monitoring all roadways last night at 11:00 p.m. and will continue working 12-hour rotating shifts until the storm has passed and the streets are clear. Currently, crews are treating the high priority routes, which are major arterial streets and routes that access the hospital and public safety entities.

The latest information and updates will be available at www.HarrisonburgVA.gov or by following the city on social media.

More information about the city’s snow and ice operations can be found at www.HarrisonburgVA.gov/snow-plow.

The City of Harrisonburg is centrally located in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. It is home to almost 55,000 people. More information about the City of Harrisonburg is online at www.HarrisonburgVA.gov.
