306.1 VERSION

Review Date	Effective Date	Approving Authority
01/29/19	07/09/18	Eric D. English, Chief of Police

306.2 POLICY AND PURPOSE

The purpose of this directive is to establish the policy for search and seizure of a person, place or thing. This directive also contains guidelines for the completion of the Affidavit for a Search Warrant.

It is the policy of the Harrisonburg Police Department to establish guidelines for lawful search and seizures as set forth by local, state and federal laws. The Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution guarantees every citizen the right to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures. Officers shall scrupulously observe these constitutional guidelines when conducting searches and should always remain mindful of their lawful purpose.

306.3 ACCOUNTABILITY STATEMENT

All employees are expected to fully comply with the guidelines and timelines set forth in this policy. Responsibility rests with the supervisor to ensure that any violations of policy are investigated and appropriate training, counseling and/or disciplinary action is initiated. This directive is for internal use only, and does not enlarge an employee's civil liability in any way. It should not be construed as the creation of a higher standard of safety or care in an evidentiary sense, with respect to third party claims. Violation of this directive, if proven, can only form the basis of a complaint by this department, and then only in a non-judicial administrative setting.

306.4 PROCEDURES

306.4.1 SEARCHES WITH A SEARCH WARRANT

- (a) To obtain a search warrant, an officer must provide the magistrate or judge with an affidavit that will allow the magistrate or judge to determine the persuasiveness of the facts relied on to show probable cause. Department officers shall use the Commonwealth of Virginia affidavit for search warrants. ( Affidavit For Search Warrant.pdf)
- (b) The search warrant shall:
  1. Name the affiant
  2. Recite the offense in relation to which the search is to be made
  3. Name or describe in detail the person, place or thing to be searched (a warrant directed against a multiple-occupancy structure must describe a particular sub-unit or specify the name of the occupant.)

Search and Seizure

4. Describe the property or person to be searched for
  5. Describe or state the facts that establish probable cause
  6. Contain the date and time it was issued
  7. State the reliability of the information and how it was obtained
  8. Refer to Harrisonburg Police Department Policy Manual: 306.4.9 THE AFFIDAVIT FOR A SEARCH WARRANT
- (c) The official authorized to issue search warrants shall attach a copy of the affidavit to the search warrant and sign with the date and time of issuance
- (d) Prior to the execution of a search warrant, an operational plan with supervisory approval shall be prepared. The only allowable exception to this would be (1) the search warrant has been executed at a crime scene, and (2) the search and seizure would involve a vehicle or person.
1. Pursuant to Va. Code §19.2-56, the affidavit in support of the search warrant shall be attached to the search warrant and served accordingly.
    - (a) Note: This subparagraph shall not apply to affidavits made by means of a voice or videotape recordings, or where the affidavit has been sealed. If an officer obtaining a search warrant is concerned about the sensitive nature of the affidavit, the officer should request that a seal order be entered.
- (e) Any search warrant not executed within 15 days after issuance shall be returned to, and voided by, the official who issued the search warrant. However, such search warrant may be temporarily sealed for a specific period of time by the appropriate court upon application and approval of the Commonwealth's Attorney according to Va. Code §19.2-54.
- (f) The integrity of a valid and legal search warrant must be the prime consideration and it is on this premise that the Department must operate. In many instances, it may be necessary to prolong investigations in order that sufficient facts may be gathered to establish probable cause for search warrants.
- (g) Under Virginia law, the authority to affect an "immediate" entry stems from exigent circumstances reasonably appearing to the officers to be in existence at the time the entry is made, and not at the time the warrant is obtained; a magistrate or judge lacks the authority to "command" and "immediate" entry in advance of the entry.

306.4.2 SEARCHES INCIDENT TO ARREST

- (a) The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that a warrantless search of a dwelling incident to a lawful full custodial arrest is constitutionally confined to the area within the arrestee's reach at the time of his/her arrest. A search may be incident to an arrest only if it is substantially contemporaneous with the arrest and is confined to the immediate vicinity of the arrest. Chimel v. California, (1969).
- (b) The U.S. Supreme Court has held, additionally, that only in well-delineated situations may a warrantless search of a dwelling take place, and the burden rests upon the Commonwealth to prove an exceptional situation. Those exceptions are as follows:

Harrisonburg Police Department

Policy Manual

Search and Seizure

1. Consent to the search
  2. Officers responding to an emergency
  3. In hot pursuit of a fleeing felon
  4. To maintain the status quo while a search warrant is sought, i.e. the goods ultimately seized were in the process of destruction or removal.
- (c) Arrest in Homes and in Third Party Dwellings:
1. The Fourth Amendment prohibits police, in the absence of exigent circumstances, from making a warrantless or nonconsensual entry into a suspect's home for the purpose of affecting a routine felony arrest. Therefore, police cannot enter the home of an accused for the purpose of effecting a felony arrest without having first obtained an arrest warrant and having the warrant in his/her possession. Payton v. N.Y., (1980).
  2. Before an officer can enter the suspect's home pursuant to an arrest warrant, the officer must have a "reasonable belief" that the location to be searched is where the suspect lives and, second, the officer must have a "reasonable belief" that the suspect is actually present at the address listed on the warrant. Payton v. N.Y., (1980).
  3. In the absence of the consent of the owner of the dwelling or exigent circumstances, a search warrant is required to search for a person named in an arrest warrant on the premises of a third person. Steagald v. U.S., (1981); Wallace v. King, (1980).
- (d) Protective Sweep in Conjunction with an In-home Arrest:
1. When officers enter a person's home to arrest that person pursuant to an arrest warrant and officers possess an articulable and objectively reasonable belief that another potentially dangerous person may be located in the home, officers may conduct a limited visual inspection of those areas where a person could be found. The sweep can last no longer than is necessary to dispel the officers' reasonable suspicion and must end when the arrest is completed and officers leave the premises. Officers may, without reasonable suspicion, also look in closets and other spaces immediately adjoining the area of arrest. Maryland v. Buie, (1990).
- (e) Search of the Passenger Compartment of an Automobile Upon the Arrest of the Occupant:
1. When a police officer has made a lawful custodial arrest of the occupant of an automobile, the officer may search the passenger compartment of that automobile when:
    - (a) The officer was unable to sufficiently restrain the arrestee during the search, so that it was reasonable to believe the arrestee might have been able to access the vehicle; OR
    - (b) There was a reasonable basis to believe that evidence of the crime for which the occupant of the vehicle was arrested might be found in the passenger compartment at the time of the search. New York v. Belton, (1981), Arizona v. Gant, (2009).

2. The officer may search the passenger compartment incident to the custodial arrest if the occupant is in the vehicle when the officer approaches, or if the occupant has recently exited the vehicle and is near the vehicle when the officer approaches so long as at least one of the two requirements from 1. (a) and 1. (b) above is present and can be articulated by the involved officer. Thornton v. U.S., (2004), Arizona v. Gant, (2009).
3. Officers may examine the contents of any containers found within the passenger compartment, whether the containers are locked or unlocked. New York v. Belton, (1981). (Note: While the U.S. Supreme Court in Belton did not specifically discuss locked containers, subsequent federal cases can be interpreted to allow searching locked containers during a search incident to arrest.)

306.4.3 SEARCHES WITHOUT A SEARCH WARRANT

(a) Consent to Search:

1. The officer may advise the person providing consent for the warrantless search, that he/she has the right to deny the search or stop the search at any time.
2. If a co-tenant is physically present and states a refusal to permit the search, the officer shall not conduct the search based on the consent of the other tenant. This only applies if the refusing co-tenant is physically present and expressly refuses consent. Georgia v. Randolph, (2006). If the refusing co-tenant is absent due to a lawful detention or arrest, this would not preclude the officer from obtaining consent from the other co-tenant at a later time. Fernandez v. California, (2014).
3. Officers are required to list the name and age of the consenting individual as well as all items that were seized in the Incident Based Report (IBR).
4. Distribution of Completed Form: ( 14-Consent to Search.pdf)
  - (a) Original - (File the same way as a search warrant.) If an arrest is made, attach to arrest warrant and forward to the court that has jurisdiction of the case. If no arrest is made, the original copy shall be forwarded to the proper court.
  - (b) Copy - Retained by the investigator/officer assigned to the case.
  - (c) Copy - Left with the individual who granted the permission to search.

(b) Protective Sweep of the Area Within the Suspect's Immediate Control:

1. Police officers may, whenever they possess an articulable and objectively reasonable belief that a suspect is presently or potentially dangerous, conduct a protective sweep for weapons or persons in the area within the suspect's immediate control. If the suspect moves about, an officer is justified in staying with the individual during the course of the stop and conducting a protective sweep of the areas which come within the suspect's immediate control, even if this action necessitates entry into the suspect's home. This includes furtive movements by an occupant of a vehicle that gives the officer reasonable suspicion the occupant may possess a firearm.

(c) Search of a Vehicle Based on Probable Cause:

1. Officers are authorized to search a lawfully stopped vehicle for contraband and/or illegal drugs when officers have probable cause to believe such items are contained in the vehicle. U.S. v. Ross, (1982).
2. The scope of a vehicle search based on probable cause is determined by the object of the search and whether the object could be contained in the item to be searched. "If probable cause justifies the search of the stopped vehicle, it justifies the search of every part of the vehicle and its contents that may conceal the object of the search." Therefore, unlike a search incident to custodial arrest, a search based on probable cause is not confined to the passenger compartment.
3. Officers with probable cause to search a vehicle may inspect passengers' belongings found in the car that are capable of concealing the object of the search. Separate probable cause is not needed to search an item once the officer has probable cause to search the vehicle in its entirety. Wyoming v. Houghton, (1999).

306.4.4 INVENTORY SEARCHES

Inventory searches serve caretaking functions and are not designed to uncover evidence of criminal activity. The purpose of the inventory search is to protect the property owner from loss, protect the impounding officer, the Harrisonburg Police Department and the City of Harrisonburg against false liability claims; and protect the general public from danger.

Refer to Harrisonburg Police Department Policy Manual: 410.10.2 VEHICLE INVENTORY

306.4.5 CRIME SCENE SEARCHES

- (a) Officers are authorized to secure a crime scene until a search warrant is obtained. Officers may execute a warrantless search at the scene of a crime under the following circumstances:
1. With consent
  2. Contemporaneous to a lawful arrest, the arrestee and the area immediately surrounding the arrestee, if it is likely to contain weapons or evidence;
  3. If the location to be searched is open to the public; or,
  4. Under exigent circumstances.

306.4.6 SEARCHES IN EXIGENT CIRCUMSTANCES

Officers are authorized to search without a warrant in emergency situations in which circumstances exist that would cause a reasonable person to believe that entry (or other relevant prompt action) is necessary to prevent physical harm to the officer(s) or others persons, the destruction of relevant evidence, the escape of a suspect, or some other consequence improperly impeding legitimate law enforcement efforts.

306.4.7 BODY SEARCHES

- (a) A police officer may detain a person in a public place only when the officer can articulate a reasonable suspicion that the person is committing, has committed or is about to commit a criminal act and once stopped, the officer may inquire of such person his/her name and address. The police officer may, if he/she reasonably believes that such person is armed and dangerous, frisk his/her person for a dangerous weapon, and if such person is found to illegally possess a dangerous weapon, the police officer shall take possession of the same and dispose of it as provided by law.
- (b) The Frisk - A frisk is a pat down for weapons plus a pat down of bags or other objects, which may contain weapons. An officer may conduct a frisk only after he/she has lawfully stopped the person.
  - 1. Police officers have a right to "Frisk" only when:
    - (a) They have already lawfully stopped a person based on a reasonable suspicion that the person was engaged in criminal activity, and
    - (b) They have a reasonable suspicion to believe that the person is armed and dangerous, i.e. that either the officer's safety or the safety of others is in danger. Terry v. Ohio, (1968).
  - 2. A frisk is lawful only when the officer:
    - (a) Has observed criminally suspicious activity on the part of the person to be frisked;
    - (b) Has lawfully stopped the person based on the officer's reasonable suspicion of criminal activity and the officer has identified him/herself as a police officer;
    - (c) Has a reasonable articulable suspicion that the suspect is armed and dangerous; and,
    - (d) The officer limits him/herself to a frisk for weapons.
- (c) The Complete Search - This search should be handled by a police officer of the same sex. It is much more involved than the frisk. The laws governing this type of search are much broader.
  - 1. Searches of a person are reasonable when:
    - (a) They are based on a properly issued warrant;
    - (b) Connected with a full custodial arrest; or,
    - (c) Made with the free consent of the person searched.
  - 2. The officer may look for:
    - (a) Concealed weapons;
    - (b) Evidence which may connect the suspect with a crime; and,
    - (c) Objects which may be used as a means of escape.

Search and Seizure

- (d) The Strip Search – A person removes or arranges some or all of his/her clothing so as to permit a visual inspection of the genitals, buttocks, anus, female breasts or undergarments. In most cases, simply arranging some or all of the clothing to permit a visual inspection of the genitals, buttocks, anus, female breasts or undergarments constitutes a strip search.
1. When a Strip Search can be Conducted:
    - (a) Pursuant to a search warrant specifically authorizing a strip search.
    - (b) Pursuant to specific consent from the person to conduct a strip search of the person.
    - (c) Pursuant to “special justification” for the strip search. Case law shows that the courts will balance the need for the particular search against the invasion of personal rights that the search entails. Courts will consider the scope of the particular intrusion, the manner in which it is conducted, the justification for initiating it, and the place in which it is conducted. Taylor v. Commonwealth, (1998); Hughes v. Commonwealth, (2000).
    - (d) Supervisory approval has been obtained in addition to the search warrant, consent and/or special justification.
  2. When a Strip Search Can Not be Conducted:
    - (a) No person in custodial arrest for a traffic infraction, Class 3 or Class 4 misdemeanor or a violation of a City Ordinance, which is punishable by 30 days or less in jail, shall be strip searched unless there is reasonable cause to believe, on the part of a law enforcement officer authorizing the search, that the individual is concealing a weapon. (VA Code §19.2-59.1).
  3. Procedure to be Followed by Department Personnel:
    - (a) All strip searches must be conducted by a law enforcement officer and documented in the Incident Based Report.
    - (b) All strip searches will be conducted in private with only the individual in custodial arrest and the searching officer present. The only exception to this rule will be if the individual being searched may jeopardize the safety of the officer conducting the search.
    - (c) Persons of the same sex shall perform all strip searches conducted under this section on the person arrested and on premises where persons not physically conducting the search cannot observe the search.
    - (d) The officer conducting the search should not touch the individual’s private parts. A possible exception would be if the officer conducting the search observes the individual attempt to conceal contraband or a weapon(s).
  4. Where Strip Searches are to be Conducted:
    - (a) At Harrisonburg Police Department – searches may be conducted in a bathroom or private office where there is no opportunity for any individual, other than the officer conducting the search, to view the proceedings.

Search and Seizure

- (b) When made pursuant to the execution of a search warrant, the search shall be conducted on the premises, out of the view of others including other police officers or individuals arrested.
- (e) The Oral Cavity Search – An inspection of the mouth.
  - 1. An officer may reasonably order an arrestee to disgorge that which the arrestee has within his/her mouth. Force will not be used to extract drugs or evidence from a suspect's mouth. Suspects who are in custody and who have ingested drugs or evidence, or where there is a reasonable suspicion that the in-custody suspect has ingested drugs or evidence, shall be transported by the arresting officer or transporting officer to the hospital (preferably Sentara Rockingham Memorial Hospital) for treatment. If an individual, who is not an arrestee or is a non-custodial arrestee (summons), has or is believed to have ingested drugs or evidence, the officer shall call for the Harrisonburg Rescue Squad to respond for medical treatment. Should the individual leave the scene or refuse medical attention, his/her refusal shall be documented. The officer shall:
  - 2. Upon examination of the subject by medical personnel, inform the medical personnel of the facts as known by the officer regarding the arrestee's ingestion of the contraband.
    - (a) Not advise, instruct, direct, request and/or insinuate to the medical personnel as to any particular medical course of action or outcome or any medical procedure, therapy and /or treatment.
    - (b) While medical attention is being administered to a person in custody, remain readily available at the site of the person receiving medical attention.
  - 3. Note: If, at any time, the contents, that the officer reasonably believes to be contraband in the arrestee's mouth, stomach, etc., come outside of the arrestee's body the officer shall, to the extent reasonable, collect, document and preserve those contents as evidence.
- (f) The Full Body Cavity Search – An inspection of the body orifices, internal organs and fluids:
  - 1. Searches of body cavities, with the exception of the mouth, will not be conducted by officers of the Harrisonburg Police Department. Should visual examination of a suspect during a strip search and/or other information lead an officer to believe that a suspect or arrestee is concealing a weapon, evidence or contraband within a body cavity, the following procedures shall be followed:
    - (a) Where there exists reasonable and appropriate cause to support a body cavity search, officers shall apply for a search warrant.
    - (b) If a search warrant is granted, the subject shall be taken to any of the following medical facilities, where the search will be conducted in a private location by medically qualified personnel:
      - 1. Sentara Rockingham Memorial Hospital

- (c) Harrisonburg Police officers shall not arrest, or take any other adverse action against medical personnel for refusing to perform a body cavity search of a subject or to order other staff members to refuse to perform a body cavity search.
- (d) When allowed by medical personnel, an officer of the same sex as the subject receiving the body cavity search shall be present to witness the search and to recover any weapons, evidence or contraband. Should the search be conducted outside of the presence of the officer, proper chain of custody protocol will be followed and documented within the IBR.
- (e) The officer shall compile an IBR report with all applicable information and maintain a copy of the search warrant.

306.4.8 SEIZURES

  - 4. Any object or person, including without limitation, documents, books, papers, records or body fluids, constituting evidence of the commission of a crime.
- (b) List of Property Seized:

- value and release the remaining excess monies or securities to the owner with a proper receipt.
3. The official authorizing the release shall make an appropriate record including designation or copying of serial numbers. This record shall be admissible into evidence in any proceeding, hearing or trial of the case to the same extent as if such monies or securities had been introduced.
  4. The record or receipt shall contain:
    - (a) The name of the financial institution or person from whom such monies or securities were taken;
    - (b) The place from where taken;
    - (c) The name of the accused; and,
    - (d) The name of the arresting officer(s) coming into initial possession of such monies or securities.
  5. Pictures shall be taken of any instruments or securities and such pictures shall be attached to the record above and shall contain, in the case of copying, the date of the photograph and the name of the photographer.
  6. The court may, with the consent of the Commonwealth's Attorney, authorize the Clerk of the Circuit Court, upon all appeal rights being exhausted, to deposit such monies or cash in an interest-bearing account.
  7. Any agency seizing property pending forfeiture and final disposition, may do any of the following (Asset Forfeiture):
    - (a) Place the property under constructive seizure by posting notice of seizure for forfeiture on the property or by filing notice of seizure for forfeiture in any appropriate public record relating to property;
    - (b) Remove the property to a storage area for safekeeping or, if the property is a negotiable instrument or money, deposit it in an interest-bearing account;
    - (c) Remove the property to a place designated by the Circuit Court in the county or city wherein the property was seized; or,
    - (d) Provide for another custodian or agency to take custody of the property and remove it to an appropriate location within or not within the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court in the county or city where the property was seized or in which the complaint was filed.
  8. A report regarding the type of property subject to forfeiture and its handling and the final disposition of the property shall be filed by the seizing agency with the Department of Criminal Justice Services in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Board.

306.4.9 THE AFFIDAVIT FOR A SEARCH WARRANT

- (a) The affidavit must contain the following:
  1. The Offense Involved:

Harrisonburg Police Department

Policy Manual

- (a) The offense must be in relation to the person, place or thing to be searched. The person, place or thing searched for constitutes evidence relative to the commission of the offense. This is a statutory requirement, and its omission may result in the warrant being declared invalid.
2. The Material Facts Constituting Probable Cause for the Issuance of the Search Warrant:
  - (a) Probable cause is the aspect of a warrant most frequently declared defective. The police officer should be as specific as his/her resources will allow and document the affidavit with facts. The magistrate or judge decides whether the alleged facts are sufficient to establish probable cause.
  - (b) Mere affirmation of belief or suspicion is not enough for the issuance of a search warrant. The affiant must state in detail the information he/she received from the informant or cooperating citizen and whether the information is of personal knowledge of the affiant. Also, there must be statements in the affidavit to show why the informant or cooperating citizen is credible and worthy of belief. The statement "that the person is reliable as he/she has given good information in the past" is not sufficient. It must state how the person is reliable.
  - (c) If the affiant is relying on personal observations made by him/herself, he/she should state when such observations were made and what he/she observed.
  - (d) The affidavit should not merely be a statement of the conclusions of the affiant or that of the informant, but should be facts on which the magistrate or judge could make an independent conclusion that sufficient probable cause existed for a search warrant.
3. The Allegation of Fact:
  - (a) In order for the magistrate or judge to issue the search warrant, the facts in the police officer's affidavit must show a probability of criminal activity. However, these facts must be alleged facts or observations and not merely the conclusions of the officer, the cooperating citizen or the officer's informant. Probable cause must be written "Within the Four Corners of the Affidavit", the how, where, what or why the officer suspects criminal activity. The officer's affidavit must also establish jurisdiction, i.e. City of Harrisonburg. The magistrate must be told in the affidavit the observations of the police officer, the cooperating citizen or the officer's informant so that the magistrate can conclude whether there is probable cause.
4. The Use of Informants or Cooperating Citizens and Establishing Their Reliability:
  - (a) When the person is a non-confidential source, the law requires that the officer state the facts to support the officer's conclusion, i.e. how the named informant or cooperating citizen "knows" or "suspects" the individual is violating the law. While establishment of a named informer or cooperating citizen's reliability is not mandatory, the Harrisonburg Police Department highly recommends it. The difficulty in doing so is minimal because usually only a cooperating citizen would want his/her name used. The reliability of a citizen informer can be adequately established by showing that the citizen is steadily employed, a registered voter and enjoys a good reputation in the neighborhood, et cetera.

- (b) If the Informer is a Confidential Source:
  - 1. The vast majority of information will come from unnamed sources and the following two-step procedure must be followed:
    - (a) The informer must allege the facts; and,
    - (b) The affidavit must show the informant's reliability. This may be accomplished in several ways:
      - (a) By alleging the informer was an eyewitness and participant in the crime;
        - (a) NOTE: This informant is discoverable in court.
      - (b) By alleging that the informer is a disinterested citizen who is steadily employed, a registered voter and enjoys a good reputation in the community; or,
      - (c) By alleging that the informer is a person of known and proven reliability and has furnished information to law enforcement officers, which has been instrumental in procuring convictions.
        - (a) NOTE: Statements such as "because of reliable information received" or "received reliable information from a credible person" or "information from informant, who has given information in the past" are not acceptable because they do not say what was the prosecutorial value of information received in the past. The affidavit must demonstrate past reliability. Perhaps the minimum attestation of informer reliability is "my informant on previous occasions has given information which has proved to be reliable." This statement is acceptable, although the Department stresses more specificity from an officer.
      - (d) If statements made by an informant are against to that individual's "Penal Interest", the information may be deemed more reliable. Simply because someone makes a statement against their penal interest, there should be corroborating evidence to support these statements.
- (c) If the Confidential Informer's Reliability Cannot be Established:
  - 1. In these cases, the law enforcement officer must submit a factual report giving credit to the informant's story. In other words, probable cause can be shown by a combination of the informant's and the police officer's observation. For example, if the informant, whose reliability cannot be proved, states he has been buying drugs at a certain address, an officer can verify his/her reliability by observing the party enter the dwelling and return with drugs.

2. Hearsay - The information supplied by any type of informant must be based on his/her personal observation and not what he/she has been told, and the affidavit should allege personal observation of the criminal activity. The only exception to this rule is when one of the participants in the crime tells the informant of his/her involvement.
5. The Description of the Person, Place or Thing to be Searched:
  - (a) A search warrant must describe with particularity the place to be searched. A search warrant directed against a multiple occupancy building will be invalidated if it fails to specify the particular sub-unit to be searched, such as the apartment number, room number or floor number and shall describe in detail the location, color and distinguishing characteristics of the property being searched.
6. Description of Person or Things to be Searched For:
  - (a) The description should be as specific as possible. However, the police officer conducting the search is not restricted in seizing only those items listed in the search warrant. If the officer comes upon evidence for the crime that the warrant was issued for or evidence of another crime, the officer is entitled to seize it.
    - (a) NOTE: If the search warrant is for a television, or large item, small places such as jewelry boxes may not be searched.
  - (b) Helpful in the Affidavit:
    1. Verification of informer's facts by police;
    2. Criminal record of suspect;
    3. Reputation of suspect; and,
    4. Expertise of police officer and the officer's conclusion.
  - (c) Submit the original affidavit and three copies to the Magistrate:
  - (d) The affidavit must be signed in front of the Judicial Officer issuing the warrant.
  - (e) No "general warrant" for the search of a house, place, compartment, vehicle or baggage shall be issued.
  - (f) Every search warrant will contain the date and time it was issued.
