HPD Makes Arrests in Child Sexual Assault and Child Pornography Case

June 9, 2014

On June 3, investigators with the Harrisonburg Police Department arrested Corinthian J. Sublett, 22, of Elkton, on two (2) felony counts of aggravated sexual batter, two (2) felony counts of manufacturing child pornography, and two (2) felony counts of distribution of child pornography.

Throughout this investigation, Sublett had been communicating with a police officer online, whom was acting in an undercover capacity, and was sending the officer pictures of child pornography.

The case concluded with a search warrant at Sublett's residence in which additional pieces of evidence were obtained that are now being forensically analyzed to determine if additional charges will be placed.

This investigation was worked in coordination with the Northern Virginia Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Task Force, which the Harrisonburg Police Department is a member of. Also assisting in the investigation were the Rockingham County Sheriff's Office and the FBI.
